COLONEL KILLED SUBORDINATE IN DELIBERATE AIM

Fox Lays Down Stinging
Allegation Against Opie
In Senate.

AFRAID TO REPORT IT

Sergeant's Letter About
"Rough Stuff" Tells of Shooting.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Charles E. Fox, of Richmond, Va., testified today before a senate investigating committee that he saw Major Heir-ome L. Opie, of Staunton, Va., shoot a soldier, in the region north of Verdun, in 1918.

"The man was shot while wearing the American uniform," said Fox. "I was 150 feet away. As the boy was shot, he threw his hands in the air and toppled over. I do not know if the man died. Sergeant Kane also saw the shooting."

Fox declared the soldier was within six feet of Opie when the shooting took place, and that he had approached the officer and moved off.

"Do you know Opie?" Chairman Brandegee asked.

"I was positive it was Major Opie. There was much talk in the company—Company B, 116th Infantry. The men wondered why the boy had been shot, but they were afraid to ask about it."

"You made no complaint?"

"No sir, I was afraid."

Asked why he did not report the case to Lieut. Marring, of Richmond, Va., Fox said:

"No Time for Play. That guy would shoot me; he wouldn't stand for any foolishness."

Fox gave Chairman Brandegee a letter from Marring, written from Casper, Wyoming, saying he was "sorry to hear about Major Opie."

Fox did not want all the letter read, saying it contained "some rough stuff."

"I am used to rough stuff in this case," Chairman said.

The letter from Marring was quoted as saying that he had heard the soldier was running away and that Opie had a right to shoot, and advised Fox not to say anything about the case "unless you actually saw the shooting," adding that "rumors don't stand up in court."

Banging the table Fox shouted that he saw Opie do the shooting.

"I saw it with my own eyes."

"From Marring's letter we are led to believe that Opie was justified in his action," said the Chairman.

"Well, I don't," Fox declared.

When taken before federal investigators at Kansas City, Biggs is said to have explained in full the photographic process with which he is charged with making the counterfeit bills.

STATE FORESTRY MOVE IS PUSHED

Beauty Spots Should Be Preserved, Aggie Man
Declares.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 10.—The establishment of a definite forestry policy in Oklahoma in order that the state's beauty spots may be preserved, its timber supply protected and its prairie districts relieved of the intensity of wind and sun in the goal toward which the Oklahoma Forestry association will strive at its first annual meeting here January 11, according to an announcement by Christian Jensen, forester at the Oklahoma A. & M. college at Stillwater and secretary of the association. The announcement of the plan is made in the formal notice of the meeting just mailed out.

Judge Thomas H. Owen of Oklahoma City is president of the association. Vice presidents are E. W. Marland, Ponca City, president of the Marland Refining company; R. H. Wilson, Oklahoma City, state superintendent of schools, and Miss Alice Robertson of Muskogee, representative in congress from the second Oklahoma district. Among the directors are Anton Classen, Oklahoma City; Carl Williams, Oklahoma City, editor of a farm paper; John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture; Frank Rush, supervisor of the Wichita National Forest and Game Preserve; and Mrs. J. C. Pearson, Marshall, former president of the Oklahoma Federation of Women's clubs.

To Petition Legislature.

The Forestry association, according to the announcement, will attempt to secure legislation from the Ninth Oklahoma legislature creating a state forestry bureau, and making available a portion of the money obtained from hunting licenses for the purchase of natural beauty spots as public parks. The association hopes, also, it was said, to make possible either through state or federal action the acquisition of forest preserves for cut-over lands in the heavily timbered districts of Southeastern Oklahoma.

Much of Oklahoma's timber supply is being wasted, Jensen asserted, because the owners of the forest farms have not been impressed with the needs for its preservation, and because the state has adopted no definite preservation policy. The setting aside of large areas of cut-over lands so new growth of timber could be protected from fire not only would mean a future supply of timber but would also preserve the natural sources of water supply for the districts below them, Jensen said.

One of the most important features of the association's program, Mr. Jensen declared, is the planting of trees in western Oklahoma—on farms, along highways, in public parks and in towns. In addition to the beauty of the trees, the association will foster their planting as a means of crop protection, affording an emergency fuel supply and producing home grown fence posts.

NOWATA SUSPECT NOT MEMBER OF GANG IS BELIEF

OKMULGEE, Jan. 10.—That the man being held in Nowata on suspicion of being one of three alleged bandits who escaped after a gun battle with police here early yesterday morning in which one alleged bandit was killed, two others captured and two policemen wounded, is not a member of the gang was the opinion expressed today by Chief of Police Dick Farr.

Although his description tallies in many respects with that of one of the men who escaped, Farr said, other incidents point to the fact that he is not one of the men wanted. He will be held in Nowata pending further investigation, however, Chief Farr said.

It became known today that the man killed by police in the gun battle and referred to by the authorities as Jimmy Sexton is Jimmie Sexton, aged 20 years, son of W. F. Sexton of Tulsa, a blacksmith and formerly an officer in western Oklahoma. Sexton today identified the body as his son, and made arrangements to take the remains to Tulsa for burial.

(By the Associated Press)

VAN WERT, Ohio, Jan. 10.—Three children were killed and 21 others were injured this morning when a school bus in which they were riding was to hit and looked up and down the track. Not seeing the approach-

Nine of the children were seriously injured, and two of them are not expected to live. Twelve of the children were only slightly injured, and they were taken to their homes.

The accident occurred at a crossing just a half mile from a centralized school.

The bus driver stopped the bus at the crossing, got out and looked up and down the track. Not seeing the approaching train because of a heavy fog, he started to drive across the track when the engine struck the bus.

GENERAL RAINS BREAK DROUGHT

Wheat Crop Is Saved By Welcome Downpour Is Belief of Many.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 10.—General rains which fell last night over the wheat belt in Oklahoma were declared to have been the "salvation of the crop," by John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture. Mr. Whitehurst said that the wheat outlook in Oklahoma today is more optimistic than for months.

It was said at the weather bureau that rain was general over the state, perhaps lightest in the north-east section. This resulted in at least temporary relief from the drought.

At 2:07 o'clock this morning, Oklahoma City had received .48 inch of rain, but three hours later a light rain began to fall. Altus reported .55 inch and Muskogee .75.

A cold wave is forecasted for tonight with temperatures of from 20 to 24 in the northern half and 24 to 30 in the southern half.

PONCA CITY, Jan. 10.—With already 1.1 inches of rain since last night, and probably showers during the day, a drought of months has been broken and farmers and oil companies are optimistic today.

Winter wheat was badly in need of moisture and many farmers were waiting for rain before plowing their ground under.

Drilling in some localities in the west Osage, closed down for weeks, will be resumed with prospects of plentiful water supply, was the Marland announcement this morning.

Garfield Crops Helped.

END, Jan. 10.—Crops in Garfield county will be greatly benefited by the 1.5 inch of rain that had fallen at 9 o'clock this morning, according to M. C. Liebhart, county agent. It was still raining at that time.

Mr. Whitehurst declared that the rain had come just in time to relieve the wheat crop and that with supplementary rains Oklahoma should yet produce a good yield. He called attention to the fact that in addition to benefitting wheat, the rain had put the ground in much better condition for spring plowing for other crops.

The condition of the wheat crop in Oklahoma is the lowest it has been for many years, he said. The condition of the crop December 1, the date of the last official survey, was 54 percent of normal.

GRIFFITH MADE DAIL PRESIDENT IN RECORD VOTE

SINN FEIN PIONEER

Irish Leader Served Prison
Term But Directed the Work From Jail.

(By the Associated Press)

DUBLIN, Jan. 10.—Arthur Griffith was elected president of the Dail Eireann today.

Eamonn de Valera and his followers walked out while the vote was being taken, in protest against the nomination of Griffith. Speaker MacNeill put the motion for Griffith's election and he was unanimously chosen.

Arthur Griffith was one of the founders of the Sinn Fein movement and has been among the foremost directors of its activities. He was an editor at Dublin and later established the paper "United Irishmen" followed by the "Sinn Fein," and the "Nationality."

In October of 1917, he was elected president of the Sinn Fein conference in Dublin. He was later nominated as the Sinn Fein delegate from east Cavan. During the peace conference at Paris in 1919 he was chosen as its delegate to go to Paris and present the Irish case, but failure to get a safe conduct prevented his attending.

Seven Months in Jail.

In July, 1919, he was elected acting president of the Irish National Assembly in the absence of Eamonn de Valera in the meeting.

Later, in October, 1919, he was elected one of the permanent vice-presidents of the Sinn Fein organization. He was arrested in Dublin in November, 1920, and spent seven months in Mt. Joy prison.

During his imprisonment he issued a message to the Irish people as to the conduct of the Sinn Fein organization. An attempt was made to escape him from prison, but the armored car used for that purpose failed to carry out the plan.

After his election, President Griffith made this announcement:

"The Dail will continue to exist until the Irish Free State is set up."

Francis Grocery Is Loser When Unknown Man Takes His Pick

By smashing in the glass of the front door, an unknown person or persons made a deliberate selection of goods in the J. C. Rushing grocery store at Francis last night and left by a door leading into the alley.

Sheriff Bob Duncan was advised of the robbery this morning but had no definite report as to the amount of stock that was taken. It is believed that flour was the principal loot as some traces of this were found in the alley early today.

Mr. Rushing also reported that a truck, blurred somewhat by the continued rain of last night, had been found in the alley.

BOGGS MOTOR COMPANY IS NEW CONCERN HERE

J. M. Boggs of Coalgate and McAlester has taken a lease on the building on East Main street, formerly occupied by Colbert Brothers Garage, and is now in charge, operating under the name of Boggs Motor Company. Dick Von Keller, who is moving his family here from McAlester, will be in charge. Mr. Boggs will spend a part of his time in Ada.

This company will handle the Wyllis-Knight and Overland cars and will carry on a general repair business. The entire building, he states, will be used, this being the largest garage building in the city.

Mr. Boggs says he has been wanting to get into the city for some time, and has had his eye on that building. He has the exclusive territory for a great part of southeastern Oklahoma for his two makes of cars.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE HIGH CALLING.—Be ye therefore perfect even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.—Matthew 5:48.

MAIN STREET IN FACT.

Will Hays, apparently, is about to retire from the cabinet. The offer to head a moving picture enterprise at a salary of $150,000 a year "is too attractive to be dismissed without consideration," Mr. Hays is reported to have said in a talk with the president. Already candidates for the prospective vacancy in the postmaster-generalship have appeared. Rumors of cabinet transfers have also crept into the news.

It is something of a jump from Sullivan, Ind., to the cabinet and thence to $150,000 per annum. Main street may laugh at the claue of urban detractors. And if Broadway shrugs sophisticated, cynical shoulders and acknowledges the exception to the rule, Main street may enroll in official map.

Let us contemplate the cabinet. There is a topography sprinkled with Main streets. Hughes started at Glens Falls, N. Y. Weeks issued his first command at West Newton, Mass. Did anyone outside of Ohio ever hear of Washington court-house? Well, that was the hamlet that welcomed Daugherty to terra firma. Wallace first shook a clenched fist at Wall street and shouted "Long live the farmer!" at Rock Island, Ill. To West Branch, Ia., the Belgians are indebted for Hoover. It may be hard for the Mexicans to believe that Fall hails from Kentucky, but it was at Frankfort that the secretary of the interior commenced conspiring against the peace and happiness of the democratic party. Denby's adventurous career traces back to Evansville, Ind., and Davis hails from Tredegar, Wales. Of all the president's accredited advisers, Mellon alone is of city birth. And when Mellon looked on Pittsburgh for the first time in 1855 the present inferno was then a placid group of Pennsylvania hills that had never heard of Carnegie or Frick or Thaw or Hans Wagner.

There are Lulu Betts and Carol Kennicotts, of course, and their impossible relations. Masters had buried them all in Spoon river before Gale or Lewis discovered them. But Main street has cradeled some of our greatest men and, is doing it today.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

THE TERRORS OF THE DEEP.

A ship captain of many year's experience has devised a new signalling system which he believes will help to reduce the number of marine collisions in foggy weather. This nation, facing a great maritime era, should find the announcement especially interesting.

Heretofore fog signals have been uniform indicating the presence of the vessel but not her course or direction. Four signal horns comprise the new apparatus. Each corresponds to a quadrant of the compass and is to be sounded only when the ship is proceeding in that direction. Blasts of varying length will indicate the section of the quadrant and provide for still greater accuracy of information between ships. Not least important in the scheme is a recording device connected with the signals. The records made automatically as the signal is given will furnish valuable evidence in case of any after dispute as to the handling of the ship.

Fog is the great terror of the deep. It is the one atmosphere condition which more than any other the navigator dreads and fears. If the captain in question has worked out a truly efficient fog-signalling system, he deserves well of all who go down to the sea in ships, be they mariners or passengers.

The cashier of a bank at Wichita Falls, Texas, a few days ago left his place of business long enough to sell the butter of a farmer customer. It seems that the customer could find no market for his dairy product, and was about ready to return home with the choicest of all fats. The cashier learned of the matter and decided to try his hand at selling. He soon had disposed of the entire lot. That man will not be cashier long. A man with that much heart and energy will accomplish much.

John R. Kirby of Houston, Texas, insists the south is now in favor of tariff to protect southern manufacturing and agriculture. We have always insisted that if we are to have tariff laws, the South ought not to be discriminated against. There is considerable sentiment throughout the South, more especially the southeastern states, in favor of tariff for protection as well as for revenue.

Possibly we shall soon have less of Ireland, now that the Irish have agreed to accept peace. While we like Irish stew, we like a little variety, and there has been no variety from Ireland since we were boys, about 800 years ago more or less.

Great Britain and France are said to be negotiating an alliance. Our only regret is that it was not done some time ago and possibly France would not object to American plans to limit the submarine tonnage.

GREEK RULER AND EGYPT'S UNCROWNED KING IN FAVOR

These recent photos from the near east give an interesting glimpse of the present conditions there. King Constantine has won the hearts of the Greeks with the success of his forces against the Turkish armies. In Egypt the national sentiment runs high. Sagelul Pasha, recognized as "king of the plain people," is being acclaimed leader wherever he goes on his journey from

Cairo through his country. When British officials prevented him from landing at certain points the crowds waded into the river to greet him and voice their demand for autonomy.

The Forum by the Press

A Job for all Americans.

(Chickasha Express)
"This is our country—yours and mine. We fought for it, now let's work for it."—Rotary poster.

There are many evidences that "prosperity is just round the corner," in this country of ours, but we need not delude ourselves by thinking that some fine day it is going to jump out and attack us, completely overwhelming us.

It isn't going to work that way. If we want the good times to come out from behind the corner, we'll have to go after 'em in a fighting mood and that is the job confronting all of us at the present moment.

In 1917 the American people took on a hard job, the job of mopping up on "an unscrupulous military power that had stepped on their rights." "This is our country—yours and mine"—that is what we said, and we sailed into the fray to fight for it. It wasn't an easy or a pleasant job but we did it, fighting it out on the home front as well as on foreign fields, standing shoulder to shoulder and making all needed sacrifices. We didn't waste time or impair our powers by fighting among ourselves; we were to sensible, too patriotic, too mindful of our own interests, to be guilty of folly of that sort.

Now we have a different sort of job on our hands. It is still "our country—yours and mine." Essentially, the job is to repair the ravages of war. That is what must be done before our country can get back into the normal ways which must come before we can be prosperous. Today there is some of the thrill provoked by the sound of martial music; the sight of flying banner borne at the head of marching columns of men in uniform, but our country is calling to us just the same: "We fought for it, now let's work for it."

That is the spirit we must have and the method we must use if prosperity is to be brought from "just round the corner." It calls for patriotism of the same sort that made us a mighty fighting people in 1917-18. It calls for the same sort of courageous hearts; the spirit that doesn't shrink from hardships, sacrifice or any effort no matter how much it taxes our energies. It is "our country" and the welfare of every man or us is bound up with its welfare. To have faith in our country, to believe in its possibilities and powers to conquer all difficulties, is just as necessary now as it was in the days of war.

The big job is being done. President Harding has well said: "This people of Washington and Jefferson are conquering the difficult problems of today no less worthily and with the faith and confidence which they bequeathed to us. We are sure to find the ways to restore prosperity and our mode of happiness." How rapidly we shall progress with the tasks we have on hand will be determined by the extent to which we bring to bear all our powers as a people. It is a job for the business man, the workingman and every other man. The spirit of 1917-18 will do it.

"This is our country—yours and mine. We fought for it, now let's work for it." It is for our country "yours and mine"—and for ourselves that we must work, if we would be true to our own interests. We must have faith, hope and confidence in our country and in ourselves and with resolute purposes and the will to work and win, "go ahead!" It is a job for all Americans, "your country and mine, your job and mine." It can be done and we are going to do it, and there will be rewards for all who do their full duty.

Seating of Newberry will detract from Senate's Prestige.
(Wichita Daily Times)

When Senator Williams refused to Senator Newberry, whose right to a seat in the senate is being contested as "the so-called Senator," Chairman Spencer of the elections committee retorted that "there would be nothing so-called about it," indicating that the republican majority in the senate had already determined to seat the man from Michigan.

There is little doubt that this has been decided and that Mr. Newberry will be seated, no matter what has been proved against him. The republicans have the votes, Mr. Newberry is one of the regulars and the leaders have said "seat him," and so it will be done.

But the wholesale expenditure of money, the buying of votes and the "bribe" of both republicans and democrats revealed in Mr. Newberry's trial in the federal court, where he was convicted of violating the federal elections act which was later pronounced unconstitutional by the United States supreme court, have put a blot on Newberry's record which will certainly not add to the prestige of a body that puts its O. K. on him.

COLONEL KILLED SUBORDINATE IN DELIBERATE AIM

Fox Lays Down Stinging Allegation Against Opie In Senate.

AFRAID TO REPORT IT

Sergeant's Letter About "Rough Stuff" Tells of Shooting.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Charles E. Fox, of Richmond, Va., testified today before a senate investigating committee that he saw Major Heir-ome L. Opie, of Staunton, Va., shoot a soldier, in the region north of Verdun, in 1918.

"The man was shot while wearing the American uniform," said Fox. "I was 150 feet away. As the boy was shot, he threw his hands in the air and toppled over. I do not know if the man died. Sergeant Kane also saw the shooting."

Fox declared the soldier was within six feet of Opie when the shooting took place, and that he had approached the officer and moved off.

"Do you know Opie?" Chairman Brandegee asked.
"I was positive it was Major Opie. There was much talk in the company—Company B, 116th Infantry. The men wondered why the boy had been shot, but they were afraid to ask about it."

"You made no complaint?"
"No sir, I was afraid."

Asked why he did not report the case to Lieut. Marling, of Richmond, Va., Fox said:

"That guy would shoot me; he wouldn't stand for any foolishness."

Fox gave Chairman Brandegee a letter from Marling, written from Casper, Wyoming, saying he was "sorry to hear about Major Opie."

Fox did not want all the letter read, saying it contained "some rough stuff."

"I am used to rough stuff in this case," Chairman said.

The letter from Marling was quoted as saying that he had heard the soldier was running away and that Opie had a right to shoot, and advised Fox not to say anything about the case "unless you actually saw the shooting," adding that "rumors don't stand up in court."

Banging the table Fox shouted that he saw Opie do the shooting.

"I saw it with my own eyes."

"From Marling's letter we are led to believe that Opie was justified in his action," said the Chairman.

"Well, I don't," Fox declared.

Biggs was arrested here two months ago and taken to Kansas City where he is said to have given testimony which resulted in the arrest of one of the biggest rings of alleged counterfeiters that has been taken into custody by U. S. treasury officials in recent years.

When taken before federal investigators at Kansas City, Biggs is said to have explained in full the photographic process with which he is charged with making the counterfeit bills.

STATE FORESTRY MOVE IS PUSHED

Beauty Spots Should Be Preserved, Aggie Man Declares.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 10.—The establishment of a definite forestry policy in Oklahoma in order that the state's beauty spots may be preserved, its timber supply protected and its prairie districts relieved of the intensity of wind and sun in the goal toward which the Oklahoma Forestry association will strive at its first annual meeting here January 11, according to an announcement by Christian Jensen, forester at the Oklahoma A. & M. college at Stillwater and secretary of the association. The announcement of the plan is made in the formal notice of the meeting just mailed out.

Judge Thomas H. Owen of Oklahoma City is president of the association. Vice presidents are E. W. Marland, Ponca City, president of the Marland Refining company; H. Wilson, Oklahoma City, state superintendent of schools, and Miss Alice Robertson of Muskogee, representative in congress from the second Oklahoma district. Among the directors are Anton Classen, Oklahoma City; Carl Williams, Oklahoma City, editor of a farm paper; John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture; Frank Rush, supervisor of the Wichita National Forest and Game Preserve, and Mrs. J. C. Pearson, Marshall, former president of the Oklahoma Federation of Women's clubs.

To Petition Legislature.
The Forestry association, according to the announcement, will attempt to secure legislation from the Ninth Oklahoma legislature creating a state forestry bureau, and making available a portion of the money obtained from hunting licenses for the purchase of natural beauty spots as public parks. The association hopes, also, it was said, to make possible either through state or federal action the acquisition of forest preserves from cut-over lands in the heavily timbered districts of southeastern Oklahoma.

Much of Oklahoma's timber supply is being wasted, Jensen asserted, because the owners of the forest farms have not been impressed with the needs for its preservation, and because the state has adopted no definite preservation policy. The setting aside of large areas of cut-over lands so new growth of timber could be protected from fire not only would mean a future supply of timber but would also preserve the natural sources of water supply for the districts below them, Jensen said.

One of the most important features of the association's program, Mr. Jensen declared, is the planting of trees in western Oklahoma—on farms, along highways, in public parks and in towns. In addition to the beauty of the trees, the association will foster their planting as a means of crop protection, affording an emergency fuel supply and producing home grown fence posts.

He has been associated here with many civic enterprises and has served in various capacities, including the presidency of the Pontotoc County United Charities and Red Cross. The stage is all set, the eats are ready, the committees prepared and the commanding officer of Norman Howard post have their men instructed for the "zero hour" when they start "over the top" in the American Legion drive for new members. This was the gist of a report put out today by post officers who have taken affairs of the local organization in hand with the intention of making it surpass all former achievements.

The big doings will start tonight when a "barrage" will start at the Legion hall in the Business College, Dudley Monk, state judge advocate of the Legion from Oklahoma, is in the city and will deliver the main address of the meeting. His talk will be followed by others with the intention of arousing an interest in the affairs of the Legion.

NOWATA SUSPECT NOT MEMBER OF GANG IS BELIEF

OKMULGEE, Jan. 10.—That the man being held in Nowata on suspicion of being one of three alleged bandits who escaped after a gun battle with police here early yesterday morning in which one alleged bandit was killed, two others captured and two policemen wounded, is not a member of the gang was the opinion expressed today by Chief of Police Dick Farr.

Although his description tallies in many respects with that of one of the men who escaped, Farr said, other incidents point to the fact that he is not one of the men wanted. He will be held in Nowata pending further investigation, however, Chief Farr said.

It became known today that the man killed by police in the gun battle and referred to by the authorities as Jimmy Saxton is Jimmie Sexton, aged 26 years, son of W. F. Sexton of Tulsa, a blacksmith and formerly an officer in western Oklahoma. Sexton today identified the body as his son, and made arrangements to take the remains to Tulsa for burial.

3 Children Dead; 21 Injured When Cars Strike Bus

(By the Associated Press)

VAN WERT, Ohio, Jan. 10.—Three children were killed and 21 others were injured this morning when a school bus in which they were riding was hit and looked up and down the track. Not seeing the approaching train, the children were seriously injured, and two of them are not expected to live. Twelve of the children were only slightly injured, and they were taken to their homes.

The accident occurred at a crossing just a half mile from a centralized school.

The bus driver stopped the bus at the crossing, got out and looked up and down the track. Not seeing the approaching train because of a heavy fog, he started to drive across the track when the engine struck the bus.

GENERAL RAINS BREAK DROUGHT

Wheat Crop Is Saved By Welcome Downpour Is Belief of Many.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 10.—General rains which fell last night over the wheat belt in Oklahoma were declared to have been the "salvation of the crop," by John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture. Mr. Whitehurst said that the wheat outlook in Oklahoma today is more optimistic than for months.

It was said at the weather bureau that rain was general over the state, perhaps lightest in the northeast section. This resulted in at least temporary relief from the drought.

At 2:07 o'clock this morning, Oklahoma City had received 1/8 inch of rain, but three hours later a light rain began to fall. Altus reported .55 inch and Muskogee .75. A cold wave is forecasted for tonight with temperatures of from 20 to 24 in the northern half and 24 to 30 in the south half.

Oil Industry Stimulated.
PONCA CITY, Jan. 10.—With already 1.1 inches of rain since last night, and probably showers during the day, a drought of months has been broken and farmers and oil companies are optimistic today.

Winter wheat was badly in need of moisture and many farmers were waiting for rain before plowing their ground under.

Drilling in some localities in the west Osage, closed down for weeks, will be resumed with prospects of a plentiful water supply, was the Marland announcement this morning.

Garfield Crops Helped.
ENID, Jan. 10.—Crops in Garfield county will be greatly benefited by the 1.5 inch of rain that had fallen at 9 o'clock this morning, according to M. C. Liebhart, county agent. It was still raining at that time.

Mr. Whitehurst declared that the rain had come just in time to relieve the wheat crop, and that with supplementary rains Oklahoma should yet produce a good yield. He called attention to the fact that in addition to benefiting wheat, the rain had put the ground in much better condition for spring plowing for other crops.

The condition of the wheat crop in Oklahoma is the lowest it has been for many years, he said. The condition of the crop December 1, the date of the last official survey, was 54 percent of normal.

Miami Has Downpour.
MIAMI, Jan. 10.—Rain which began here at 7:30 this morning was still falling at 10:30 this forenoon, with every indication of a general relief from a protracted drought.

GRIFFITH MADE DAIL PRESIDENT IN RECORD VOTE

DeValera and Followers Stalk Out of Assembly In Hot Protest.

SINN FEIN PIONEER

Irish Leader Served Prison Term But Directed the Work From Jail.

(By the Associated Press)

DUBLIN, Jan. 10.—Arthur Griffith was elected president of the Dail Eireann today. Eamonn de Valera and his followers walked out while the vote was being taken, in protest against the nomination of Griffith. Speaker MacNeill put the motion for Griffith's election and he was unanimously chosen.

Arthur Griffith was one of the founders of the Sinn Fein movement and has been among the foremost directors of its activities. He was an editor at Dublin and later established the paper "United Irishmen" followed by the "Sinn Fein" and the "Nationality."

In October of 1917, he was elected presiding officer at the opening of the Sinn Fein conference in Dublin. He was later nominated as the Sinn Fein delegate from east Cavan. During the peace conference at Paris in 1919 he was chosen as its delegate to go to Paris and present the Irish case, but failure to get a safe conduct prevented his attending.

Seven Months in Jail.
In July, 1919, he was elected acting president of the Irish National Assembly in the absence of Eamonn de Valera in the meeting. Later, in October, 1919, he was elected one of the permanent vice-presidents of the Sinn Fein organization. He was arrested in Dublin in November, 1920, and spent several months in Mt. Joy prison. During his imprisonment he issued a message to the Irish people as to the conduct of the Sinn Fein organization. An attempt was made to rescue him from prison, but the armored car used for that purpose failed to carry out the plan.

After his election, President Griffith made this announcement:

"The Dail will continue to exist until the Irish Free State is set up."

Francis Grocery Is Loser When Unknown Man Takes His Pick

By smashing in the glass of the front door, an unknown person or persons made a deliberate selection of goods in the J. C. Rushing grocery store at Francis last night and left by a door leading into the alley.

Sheriff Bob Duncan was advised of the robbery this morning but had no definite report as to the amount of stock that was taken. It is believed that flour was the principal loot as some traces of this were found in the alley early today. Mr. Rushing also reported that a truck, blurred somewhat by the continued rain of last night, had been found in the alley.

BOGGS MOTOR COMPANY IS NEW CONCERN HERE

J. M. Boggs of Coalgate and McAlester has taken a lease on the building on East Main street, formerly occupied by Colbert Brothers Garage, and is now in charge, operating under the name of Boggs Motor Company. Dick Von Keller, who is moving his family here from McAlester, will be in charge. Mr. Boggs will spend a part of his time in Ada.

This company will handle the Willis-Knight and Overland cars and will carry on a general repair business. The entire building, he states, will be used, this being the largest garage building in the city.

Mr. Boggs says he has been waiting to get into the city for some time, and has had his eye on that building. He has the exclusive territory for a great part of southeastern Oklahoma for his two makes of cars.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE HIGH CALLING:—Be ye therefore perfect even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.—Matthew 5:48.

MAIN STREET IN FACT.

Will Hays, apparently, is about to retire from the cabinet. The offer to head a moving picture enterprise at a salary of $150,000 a year "is too attractive to be dismissed without consideration," Mr. Hays is reported to have said in a talk with the president. Already candidates for the prospective vacancy in the postmaster-generalship have appeared. Rumors of cabinet transfers have also crept into the news.

It is something of a jump from Sullivan, Ind., to the cabinet and thence to $150,000 per annum. Main street may laugh at the claqué of urban detractors. And if Broadway shrugs sophisticated, cynical shoulders and acknowledges the exception to the rule, Main street may enroll in official map.

Let us contemplate the cabinet. There is a topography sprinkled with Main streets. Hughes started at Glens Falls, N. Y. Weeks issued his first command at West Newton, Mass. Did anyone outside of Ohio ever hear of Washington courthouse? Well, that was the hamlet that welcomed Daugherty to terra firma. Wallace first shook a clenched fist at Wall street and shouted "Long live the farmer!" at Rock Island, Ill. To West Branch, Ia., the Belgians are indebted for Hoover. It may be hard for the Mexicans to believe that Fall hails from Kentucky, but it was at Frankfort that the secretary of the interior commenced conspiring against the peace and happiness of the democratic party. Denby's adventurous career traces back to Evansville, Ind., and Davis hails from Tredegar, Wales. Of all the president's accredited advisers, Mellon alone is of city birth. And when Mellon looked on Pittsburg for the first time in 1855 the present inferno was then a placid group of Pennsylvania hills that had never heard of Carnegie or Frick or Thaw or Hans Wagner.

There are Lulu Betts and Carol Kennicotts, of course, and their impossible relations. Masters had buried them all in Spoon river before Gale or Lewis discovered them. But Main street has cradled some of our greatest men and is doing it today.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

THE TERRORS OF THE DEEP.

A ship captain of many year's experience has devised a new signalling system which he believes will help to reduce the number of marine collisions in foggy weather. This nation, facing a great maritime era, should find the announcement especially interesting.

Heretofore fog signals have been uniform indicating the presence of the vessel but not her course or direction. Four signal horns comprise the new apparatus. Each corresponds to a quadrant of the compass and is to be sounded only when the ship is proceeding in that direction. Blasts of varying length will indicate the section of the quadrant and provide for still greater accuracy of information between ships. Not least important in the scheme is a recording device connected with the signals. The records made automatically as the signal is given will furnish valuable evidence in case of any after dispute as to the handling of the ship.

Fog is the great terror of the deep. It is the one atmosphere condition which more than any other the navigator dreads and fears. If the captain in question has worked out a truly efficient fog-signalling system, he deserves well of all who go down to the sea in ships, be they mariners or passengers.

The cashier of a bank at Wichita Falls, Texas, a few days ago left his place of business long enough to sell the butter of a farmer customer. It seems that the customer could find no market for his dairy product, and was about ready to return home with the choicest of all fats. The cashier learned of the matter and decided to try his hand at selling. He soon had disposed of the entire lot. That man will not be cashier long. A man with that much heart and energy will accomplish much.

John R. Kirby of Houston, Texas, insists the south is now in favor of tariff to protect southern manufacturing and agriculture. We have always insisted that if we are to have tariff laws, the South ought not to be discriminated against. There is considerable sentiment throughout the South, more especially the southeastern states, in favor of tariff for protection as well as for revenue.

Possibly we shall soon have less of Ireland, now that the Irish have agreed to accept peace. While we like Irish stew, we like a little variety, and there has been no variety from Ireland since we were boys, about 800 years ago more or less.

Great Britain and France are said to be negotiating an alliance. Our only regret is that it was not done some time ago and possibly France would not object to American plans to limit the submarine tonnage.

GREEK RULER AND EGYPT'S UNCROWNED KING IN FAVOR

These recent photos from the near east give an interesting glimpse of the present conditions there. King Constantine has won the hearts of the Greeks with the success of his forces against the

Turkish armies. In Egypt the national sentiment runs high. Sagelul Pasha, recognized as "king of the plain people," is being acclaimed leader wherever he goes on his journey from

Cairo through his country. When British officials prevented him from landing at certain points the crowds waded into the river to greet him and voice their demand for autonomy.

The Forum of the Press

A Job for all Americans.
(Chickasha Express)
"This is our country—yours and mine. We fought for it, now let's work for it."—Rotary poster.
There are many evidences that "prosperity is just 'round the corner" in this country of ours, but we need not delude ourselves by thinking that some fine day it is going to jump out and attack us, completely overwhelming us.
If we want the good times to come out from behind the corner, we'll have to go after 'em in a fighting mood and that is the job confronting all of us at the present moment.
In 1917 the American people took on a hard job. The job of mopping up on an unscrupulous military power that had stepped on their rights. "This is our country—yours and mine"—that is what we said, and we sailed into the fray to fight for it. It wasn't an easy or a pleasant job but we did it fighting it out on the home front as well as on foreign fields, standing shoulder to shoulder and making all needful sacrifices. We didn't waste time or impair our powers by fighting among ourselves; we were to sensible, too patriotic, too mindful of our own interests, to be guilty of folly of that sort.
Now we have a different sort of job on our hands. It is still "our country—yours and mine." Essentially, the job is to repair the ravages of war. That is what must be done before our country can get back into the normal ways which must come before we can be prosperous. Today there is some of the thrill provoked by the sound of martial music of the sight of flying banners borne at the head of marching columns of men in uniform, but our country is calling to us just the same: "We fought for it, now let's work for it."

That is the spirit we must have and the method we must use if prosperity is to be brought from "just 'round the corner." It calls for patriotism of the same sort that made us a mighty fighting people in 1917-18. It calls for the same sort of courageous hearts; the spirit that doesn't shrink from hardships, sacrifice or any effort no matter how much it taxes our energies. It is "our country" and the welfare of every man or us is bound up with its welfare. To have faith in our country, to believe in its possibilities and powers to conquer all difficulties, is just as necessary now as it was in the days of war.

The big job is being done. President Harding has well said: "This people of Washington and Jefferson are conquering the difficult problems of today no less worthily and with the faith and confidence which they bequeathed to us. We are sure to find the ways to restore prosperity and our mode of happiness." How rapidly we shall progress with the tasks we have on hand will be determined by the extent to which we bring to bear all our powers as a people. It is a job for the business man, the workman and every other man. The spirit of 1917-18 will do it.

"This is our country—yours and mine. We fought for it, now let's work for it." It is for our country "yours and mine"—and for ourselves that we must work, if we would be true to our own interests. We must have faith, hope and confidence in our country and in ourselves and with resolute purposes and the will to work and win, "go ahead!" It is a job for all Americans, "your country and mine, your job and mine." It can be done and we are going to do it, and there will be rewards for all who do their full duty.

Seating of Newberry will detract from Senate's Prestige.
(Wichita Daily Times)

When Senator Williams refused to seat Newberry, whose right to a seat in the senate is being contested as "the so-called Senator," Chairman Spencer of the elections committee retorted that "there would be nothing so-called about it," indicating that the republican majority in the senate had already determined to seat the man from Michigan.

There is little doubt that this has been decided and that Mr. Newberry will be seated, no matter what has been proved against him. The republicans have the votes, Mr. Newberry is one of the regulars and the leaders have said "seat him," and so it will be done.

But the wholesale expenditure of money, the buying of votes and the "hiring" of both republicans and democrats revealed in Mr. Newberry's trial in the federal court, where he was convicted of violating the federal elections act which was later pronounced unconstitutional by the United States supreme court, have put a blot on Newberry's record which will certainly not add to the prestige of a body that puts its O. K. on him.

Collapse of Howat Fight Is Forecast By Illinois Force

Support to Continue.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 10.—Declaring that Ellis Searles, editor of the United Mine Workers Journal, "does not know what he is talking about," President Frank Farrington of Illinois United Mine Workers declared that support for the striking Kansas miners will be continued "in the future to exactly the same extent as in the past."
"The Kansas strike has not collapsed," Mr. Farrington said. "More men are on strike in Kansas today than at any other time since the strike commenced."

With the discontinuance of the $1 a month assessment, Mr. Farrington pointed out, financial support would come directly from the state treasury of the union.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation. The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoid serious kidney disease.

CHANCE TO FIND OUT

Just now a belated effort is under way to find out some of the facts about government business and government employment. The Bureau of the Budget has been organized and is in operation under the direction of Charles G. Dawes.

Both houses of congress are working on the problem of reclassification of government positions and salaries. The Veterans' bureau has been organized and has taken over the bureau of war risk insurance, that part of the public health service which had to do with veterans, and all of the work of the federal board for vocational education except that part which had to do with the treatment of persons injured in the industries.

There is also the inquiry being made by the joint committee on the reorganization of the administrative branch of the government of the two houses of congress, of which I have spoken. Walter E. Brown of Ohio is chairman of this committee, representing President Harding. The members of the committee are, on the part of the senate, Senators Smoot of Utah, Harrison of Mississippi and Wadsworth of New York. The members on the part of the house are Representatives Reavis of Nebraska, Temple of Pennsylvania and Moore of Virginia.

The job of this joint committee is to "make a survey of the administrative services of the government for the purpose of securing all pertinent facts regarding their powers and duties, their distribution among the several executive departments, and the overlapping and duplication of authority."

In reporting the resolution from the judiciary committee to the house the members were told:

It is a matter of common knowledge that millions of dollars are wasted by the government by the almost endless duplication of activities. There has been no fundamental change in the administrative activities since the organization was devised by Alexander Hamilton, and the result is that activities entirely out of harmony with the functions of departments have grown with the passing years until the government of the United States has become not only the biggest business in the world, but the world's worst managed business.

The purpose of the resolution is to ascertain so far as possible the extent of the overlapping and duplication of activities, with the view that numerous commissions and bureaus may be eliminated and a great saving effected in the governmental expenditures. The committee feels that no more constructive legislation is possible under existing conditions than the legislation proposed by the resolution. With the present condition of the nation's finances and the burdens the people suffer because of excessive government expenditures, it is imperative that real economy should commend itself to the sympathetic attention of the house, and we feel that the passage of this resolution and the work of the committee which will be done under its authority will result in the saving of millions annually.

It can be predicted with considerable assurance that nothing will come of this proposed voyage of discovery unless we, the shareholders in the enterprise, maintain an active, lively, sustained interest in it. One thing is always true of the house of representatives—it is representative. If we breathe warmly upon it, it glows.

If we are indifferent it becomes cold. This isn't the first time that a plan has been set in motion to find out something about how the government's business is conducted.

The earliest inquiry into the administrative methods of the executive departments was made by the Cockrell commission in 1897. Six years later, in 1903, a joint commission, of which Representative Dockery was chairman, was appointed to examine the status of the laws organizing the departments. President Roosevelt in 1905 named an interdepartmental committee, of which C. H. Keep, assistant secretary of the treasury, was chairman, to consider department methods. President Taft in turn, in 1910, named a commission on economy and efficiency of which Frederick Cleveland was chairman.

Broadly and generally speaking, nothing came of these enterprises. You and I—commonly and vaguely known as the public—were not interested, and neither was congress. That ended it.

But just now, at this moment, we have the best chance we ever had to find out about our common business and how to improve it and lessen its cost to us. The burden of supporting it is heavier than ever before.

You will perhaps notice all through these articles that the information supplied me about the general facts of government employment and government business are in terms of estimates and approximations. This is one of the defects of government organization. It is so large and so formless, and its parts so unrelated, that exact and precise information about the whole is virtually unobtainable.

It is of the greatest urgency and need that the people shall know about their government, but they will find it difficult to learn until the government knows about itself.

W. C. T. U. LEADER TO SPEAK AT ADA MEET WEDNESDAY

Mrs. S. M. Davis, Oklahoma City, noted temperance organizer, will be in Ada tomorrow and will meet with prohibition workers of the city and county at the home of Mrs. T. E. Brents, 101 East Fifteenth street, at 3 p. m., to assist in the organization of a local chapter of the W. C. T. U.

This announcement was made this morning by Mrs. Cora C. McKeel, president of the city organization. All persons in the county interested in temperance work are invited to be present. Men will be admitted as honorary members.

In her statement today, Mrs. McKeel said:

"Let us prove by our presence at this meeting that we stand for a cleaner city and county. Policemen and office seekers are cordially invited. Come out and let us know whether you are 'booze' or 'anti-booze.' The W. C. T. U. stands for cleaner politics and less whiskey."

After the meeting here Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Davis will go to Stowell to continue her work in the county. After that she will go to Coalgate and other points to push the fight against liquor in all forms. She will return here for a meeting Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the Christian church.

Speedy High School Team Wins Over Cement Cagers

HARNESS RACING SEASON IS LAID

Circuit Representatives In Annual Meet Today To Book Dates.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 10.—The harness racing season for 1922 will be laid here today and tomorrow when stewards and representatives of the Grand and Lake Erie circuits hold their annual meetings and assign dates, upon which other harness racing dates throughout the country are based.

The Grand Circuit meeting opened Monday and continued Tuesday. The schedules and rules committee met Monday afternoon with the annual dinner in the evening. Tuesday's program as mapped out by Secretary Win H. Kinnaird, called for an open meeting in the morning, to which all horsemen are invited and an executive meeting of the stewards in the afternoon at which action will be taken on rules and schedules.

The Lake Erie officials, controlling the half-mile tracks, will meet on Wednesday.

One of the principal questions facing the Grand Circuit stewards is whether dates will be assigned to the Kinnaird track at Windsor, Ont., across the river from Detroit. President Samuel McBride of that track, has signified his intention of applying for membership with a view to holding a meeting during the two weeks preceding the North Randall meeting.

Under the Canadian law it is possible only to race three days a week, and in order for a six-day meet to be held at the Kinnaird track it is necessary to race in two different weeks.

However, the management of the North Randall track here is reticent about relinquishing the opening of the Grand Circuit. They point to the fact that they took the opening dates several years ago when no other track wanted them and since then has built up its own meeting second to none in the circuit.

If Lexington decides to substitute a six day meeting for the two weeks gathering it has held for many years, as has been reported this must also come before the stewards. Such action by Lexington would leave a week open between the Lexington and Atlanta meetings.

The addition of Kinnaird would give the Grand Circuit twelve tracks. Present members are North Randall, Toledo, Columbus, Kalama-zoo, Lexington, Atlanta, Philadelphia, Poughkeepsie, Syracuse, Hartford and Readville.

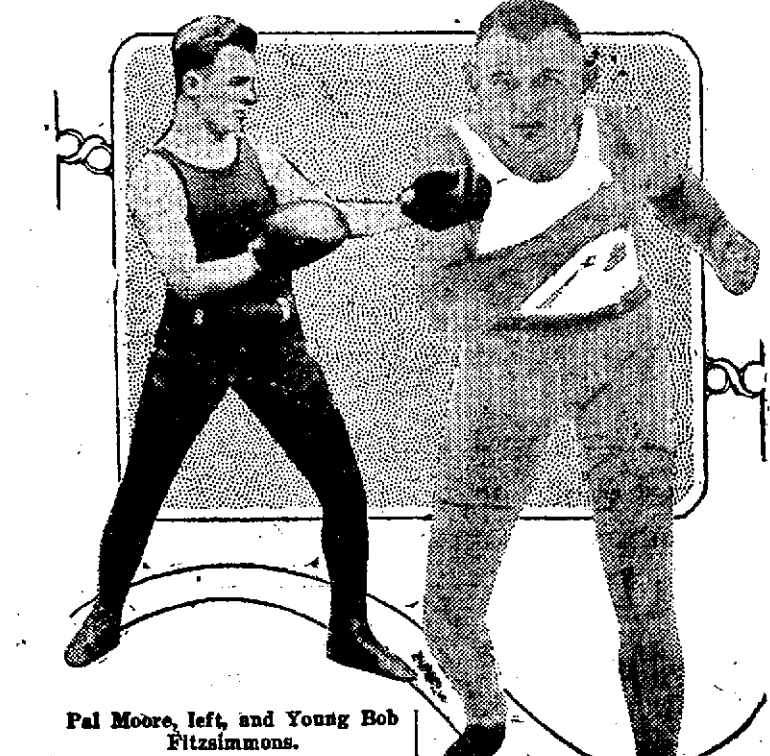

Kennilworth had been a member until a few years ago. If dates are received the $10,000 Merchants and Manufacturers stake, one of the outstanding features of the circuit until racing was abandoned at Kennilworth, will be reviewed, it was announced by President McBride.

DURANT MAKING BID FOR BASKETBALL TITLE

DURANT, Jan. 10.—(Special)—In compliance with the expectations of their coach and as an agreeable surprise to most of their supporters Durant high school team added another laurel to the more easily acquired one they took from Crowder, when they went to Tishomingo and Ardmore Friday and Saturday of last week.

Due to the loss of a few men from the regular team of last year it seems to be the general opinion of most of the Durant "critics," that never again in the history of the world will D. H. S. ever support a winning team.

Outplayed His Manager.

That's what Ed Uyna, rookie infielder signed by the Cleveland Indians, did to win his first professional bout.

Uyna probably will be farmed out after a training trip trial, but he has the making of a star, Cleveland scouts believe.

Uyna got his baseball start in the navy. Joined it when he was sixteen.

He played the infield with the team of the battleship Arkansas and liked the game so well he decided to stick to it. He signed with Des Moines in the Western league last year. He had been playing third in the navy. Manager Coffey kept him on the bench until Coffey's illness forced him to leave the lineup. Then he put Uyna in his place at second. Uyna played the sack so well Coffey didn't have the heart to bench him.

Young Ed batted .325 and fielded brilliantly. He is only twenty-two and his service in the navy gave him a splendid constitution. He is married, too.

Incidentally, Manager Coffey got the bounce.

SOONERS DOCTOR DEFECTS PROVED IN FIRST GAME

NORMAN, Jan. 10.—(Special) With the first conference game of the season added to the victory side of the column by a score of 30 to 20 over Grinnell, the University of Oklahoma basketball squad settled down to correct the defects that this game brought out before the Sooners meet Drake here Wednesday, January 11, and Ames here, Saturday, January 14.

The Sooner floor work was fast but showed ragged teamwork, difficulty in advancing the ball through the Grinnell defense and the goal shooting was extremely inaccurate. Coach Hugh V. McDermott has instituted a system of checks on the cagers during the workout, checking the number of accurate and inaccurate shots taken at the goal during the practice in order to teach the athletes to always be at their best.

The largest crowd that ever attended a basketball game at Oklahoma turned out for the Grinnell game and for the first time in the history of Sooner basketball, a game paid for itself. Ben G. Owen, director of Sooner athletics, has thrown open to the Sooner student body the right of ballot for their choice of an all-Valley honor team at the end of the season in order to stimulate interest in the winter sport. This action was made possible by the 1922 schedule which provides for the conference to play one game at Norman.

E. C. Quigley will referee the Drake game Wednesday. Quigley is well known at Oklahoma. It has been said that the Sooner spectators at a game enjoy watching the veteran official watch equally as much as the athletes and especially is this true in basketball since the crowd is close enough to hear and closely follow Quigley.

Chickasha Girl Is Elected May Queen At O. U. This Year

NORMAN, Jan. 9.—(Special)—Lucile Westfall, Chickasha, senior in the college of arts and science, was declared the University of Oklahoma's 1922 May Queen, by default of her opponent, Dorine Guthrie, Norman, according to action of the student council Thursday night.

Miss Westfall and Miss Guthrie were the only candidates for the ballot for the May Queen honor. The election was to have taken place Tuesday, January 10, the time of the mid-year Sooner student election but because of illness of Miss Guthrie during the last semester and her consequent failure in part of her scholastic work, she was declared ineligible to run for the honor by the university eligibility committee.

Miss Westfall is president of Zeta-Alpha literary society, member of Alpha Chi Omega, national social sorority, Alpha Chi Omega's Pan Hellenic representative, and extremely active in all student affairs.

Detroit League Club To Train This Year On Augusta Field

DETROIT, Jan. 10.—The Detroit American League baseball club probably will train this year at Augusta, Georgia, Frank J. Navin, president of the organization announces. Manager Ty Cobb now is in Augusta seeking to arrange for housing facilities and expects to conclude negotiations soon, it was stated.

Augusta was chosen some time ago but the hotel in which the Tigers expected to stop was burned. For a time it appeared that some other training ground might be selected. Whether the Detroiters will make their homes in private residences has not been decided.

The Rochester and Columbus clubs are to train in the immediate vicinity of Augusta, and will provide practice games with the Detroit club if Cobb selects the Georgia city.

C. of E. May Lose Grid Captain

EMPORIA, Kan., Jan. 10.—College of Emporia probably will lose its football captain-elect, Ralph "Bud" Wildick, who has been offered a scholarship in Harvard and probably will accept. He is a sophomore, and lives in Emporia.

Potts Named Grid Captain For Ada High 1922 Squad

FRANK POTTS, halfback and two season man with Ada high school gridiron squad, was elected football captain for 1922 at a meeting of all A. H. S. letter men yesterday.

Ada high starts next fall her first year of football in the new Southern Oklahoma Conference, consisting of eight of the strongest teams in the state. Under Potts' direction, a new chapter is expected to be written in local sport history and the near all-victorious record that Coach C. R. Cox's men established last season is expected to blossom into full-blown championship next year.

Potts is also a basketball veteran who is considered a formidable man both in football togs and on the basketball court. He is a leader in other lines of student activity at the high school and is president of his class at the Methodist Sunday school. He is a junior in Ada high and will play his last year with the local team next season. Potts is center on the basketball team.

Cunning Is Popular Mah.

Charles Cunning, fullback and captain of Ada high school football team last season, was unanimously chosen by his teammates in the meeting yesterday for the sweater offered by the Model Clothing company for the high school grid star most popular with his fellows. The sweater, which is made to measure contains three service stripes. Cunning is 18 years old and is a senior. He is also a basketball letter man, playing guard with Coach Cox's team this year. "Chuck" led last season one of the most capable gridiron machines the local high school has ever produced and his generalship will be missed in the conference race next year.

DRAKE RELAYS TO BE SPORT LEADER

Western Schools Pledge Strong Backing For April Event.

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 10.—A track relay meet that will compare favorably with any other similar event in the country is the aim of Drake University athletic officials, who have this year obtained wide co-operation from western track coaches in developing plans for the 1922 Drake Relays in April.

Kenneth L. Wilson, athletic director of Drake University, has the backing of all Western Conference schools in his venture and is enthusiastic over the prospects of making the local meet the stellar track and field attraction of the entire country.

Despite the fact that the local relay will be held on the same date as the University of Pennsylvania meet, Drake has received the unanimous backing of Big Ten schools. Heretofore the Drake relays always have been held the week before the Penn meet.

Co-operation Asked. Athletic Director Tom Jones of the University of Wisconsin and Harry Gill of Illinois assisted Wilson in lining up the other western conference coaches to support the Drake relay. In addition to the GIANTS GOT BETTER OF LATEST TRADE, BUT HOW LONG WILL IT HELP CHAMPS?

The winter stove league is busily discussing the latest baseball trade whereby the Giants obtained Heinie Groh for Outfielder George Burns and Catcher Mike Gonzales. On the face of things the Giants seem to have the edge in the trade. They need Heinie Groh in their infield. He is one of the game's greatest infielders and a 300 hitter. George Burns, long ranked as one of the league's outfielding stars, is old. Mike Gonzales is only a fair catcher. But Heinie himself is no longer a spring chicken. How long will he hold the pace with the speedy Giants?

HARVARD WANTS BOXING LISTED AS MAJOR SPORT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 10.—A petition bearing the names of 400 men, virtually every athlete of distinction in college being included, has been presented to the Harvard Athletic Committee requesting that boxing be adopted as an inter-collegiate sport. The committee has considered the proposition once, and was to do so again today when a favorable answer to the undergraduates' requests is expected. For two years in succession the Athletic committee has voted down a proposal to box with outside colleges.

The five major sport captains, Keith Kane, football, George Owen, hockey, Arthur Conion, baseball, Louis McCagg, crew, and Fliske Brown, track, signed the petition. Kane and Owen are also members of the Athletic Committee, and are using their influence among the graduate and faculty members.

Boxing has been recognized as an intracollege sport here for several years, the men being given instruction by Larry Conley, a former fighter. The season has been concluded each winter with a championship meet.

At the first meet the late John L. Sullivan, who was guest of honor, made a speech. After that only students were admitted until the Massachusetts Boxing Commission took the sport under its wing.

The Harvard boxers, about 250 in number, are training daily in Hemenway Gymnasium. If the vote Tuesday is favorable, there is a strong desire to meet Yale this season, but the chances are that there will be no outside matches until 1923.

TEAM THAT GOES TO JAPAN NEEDS MUCH TRAINING

CHICAGO, JAN. 9.—The University of Chicago track team, which will go to Japan this spring, while far better than the team of 1921, needs much practice.

The outstanding star of the team is Captain Redman, winner of the "C" in football, who will be a point winner in the shotput. The hurdles race next in their ability to win points with Brickman, Jones and Hass. A number of new sprinters are jogging daily and one of these may prove the man the Maroon team aggregation has stood in need of for a number of years.

Among the available sprinters are Pyott, Bates, Brickman and Jones. The last two with Hass, also are trying the broad jumps, Brickman, Swett, Roberts, Carter and Shorey, half milers, have been practicing for the relay.

Tom Eck, assistant director of athletics and coach of the track teams, believes that the material he has will whip into fine shape before the dash across the Pacific. A number of the veterans, while in school, have not as yet turned out. Upon their coming, the team will be notably improved, the critics believe.

STADIUM ARCH IS TO BE MEMORIAL OF 1922 SOONERS

NORMAN, Jan. 9.—(Special)—The senior class of the University of Oklahoma has voted on itself $2,000 for the construction of an arch entrance to the proposed $500,000 athletic stadium on Owen field for Soonerland. The arch will be a memorial to the class of 1922.

It is proposed to construct the arch out of white stone and red brick, Sooner colors, at the corner of Jenkins avenue and Brooks street, the main entrance to the stadium as it is now proposed. The arch will contain an automatic turnstile for keeping count of all who enter the gates to the stadium.

Every graduating class of the university has left a memorial. The class of '05 left a large stone embedded in the ground on the west side of the oval, one class left a sun-dial, the class of '15 constructed the double arches on University boulevard at the entrance to the oval and the class of '20 placed double arches at the campus entrance on Asp avenue.

YOUNGSTERS GET ENDURANCE TEST

Coach Cox's Men Demonstrate Advantage of Daily Training Period.

Monday night was a good one for Ada high school as the fast little basketball squad of that school showed sport fans of the city they were still in the fight for league honors by defeating the Cement Plant team in the College gym. The High School has won only two games in the city league, both being from the Cement Plant. A new line-up used by the school was effective.

The first half was an oddless fight, both teams working for an advantage but failing to get it. At the end of the first half the score stood 11 to 10 for the High School. In the last half, fighting became stiff but it was not until the last five minutes that the high school gained a good lead. No change was made in either line-up during the game. Daily practices of the high school gave them advantage in endurance.

After their gain in the first ten minutes of the last half, the high school ran up a larger score on the cement plant than they had made in any previous game. The final score was 31 to 19. Potts started the fun in the last half when he looped four good field goals. Rayburn was given several good chances, and when he lost on a long shot he generally managed to follow it up for a score from under the goal. Wilsey fed the ball to Potts and Rayburn, while Cunningham and Molloy at guards kept the ball for the most part out of dangerous territory.

Cement Forwards Baffled. Smith and K. Hensley were smothered by the high school guards, but at intervals they broke away and played good ball. Kerr was not in his usual form, and several of his attempts at goal failed. His work at center was good. Rogers and Riddle kept up a running fight for the thirty minutes duration of the game and many times blocked the high school men.

Thompson Coaches Men. In the Teachers-News exhibition game Thompson was given a chance to coach his men for coming conference tilts this week. Although his men defeated the News, they were given a good roughing up and were allowed themselves to do a little roughing. Only ten points were made in the first half. The score in this game was 32 to 13. Bentley lost several good chances in the first half and not until the last few minutes of the second half did he get to putting the ball through the goal.

In a report of last Friday night's games, an error was made in the summary of the Teachers-Business College game. Little, college center, set a new record for high scoring by field goals in this game when he netted eleven. By a typographical error it was stated that he made 1 field goal.

The line-up:

High School	Pos.	Cement Plant
Wilsey	F	K. Hensley
Rayburn	F	Smith
Potts	C	Kerr
Molloy	G	Rogers
Cunningham	G	Riddle

Summary: Field goals, Rayburn 6, Potts 6, Wilsey 2, Hensley 3, Smith 2, Kerr 2, free goals: Smith 4, Rayburn 2, Hensley 1, Wilsey 1. Personal fouls: Cement Plant 8, High School 3, technical fouls: High School 4, Cement Plant 3. Wilson, referee.

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

SIMON KENTON, THE AMERICAN MAZEPPA

Second only to the name of Daniel Boone—whose life he once saved—is written in the annals of Kentucky the name of Simon Kenton. Kenton was a Virginian who served as a scout in Lord Dunmore's war shortly before the outbreak of the Revolution and who crossed over the mountains into the "Dark and Bloody Ground" of Kentucky in search of adventure. His exploits there soon won for him the undying hatred of the Indians and no less than eight times he was captured by them and sentenced to death.

In 1778 Kenton with two companions went north into Ohio to spy upon a tribe at war with the whites. While returning, they came upon a herd of Indian horses. The Kentonians resolved to take some of the animals along as trophies of the successful expedition. The Indians quickly discovered the theft and overtook the scouts just before they crossed the Ohio river.

One of the Kentonians was killed, another escaped but Kenton was taken prisoner.

"You steal Indian horses?" they taunted him. "All right, we give you ride on him!"

So they tied the scout on a wild young horse and set it free in the forest. He finally was taken from the horse's back more dead than alive.

At the first village the Indians reached, they condemned the scout to run the gantlet. When the signal was given, Kenton sprang through the line of warriors, armed with clubs and hatchets, and reached the council house, his goal, almost untouched. Near Zanesfield preparations were made to burn him at the stake, but the arrival of Simon Girty, the "white renegade," who recognized Kenton as an old friend, saved him.

His freedom was short-lived. Three weeks later the Indians again voted to put him to death. Again he was saved by a friend—Chief Logan, the noted orator of the Cayugas. When the Sandusky towns were reached, the Indians held a council and once more decreed the death penalty. Kenton was tied to the stake. Just as the torch was being applied, a British officer appeared and demanded the surrender of their prisoner to his commander at Detroit.

Kenton was kept captive in Detroit until 1779, when through the aid of an Indian trader's wife he escaped to Kentucky where he died in 1836.

QUESTION RAISED ABOUT WEEVIL

A question has arisen about the weevil found in cocklebur roots mentioned in the News a few days ago. Several who have seen the insects at the News office say they are not boll weevils, although resembling them closely. A story in the Oklahomaian from Love county states that the same question has been raised there. The county agent there states positively that the weevil found in the roots of cockleburs are not the boll weevil as proved by the examination with the magnifying glass. Following is a letter from S. D. Oliphant, Toltec, Arkansas, on the same subject:

"I see that the farmers think they have found the weevil in the roots of the cocklebur. This is a mistaken idea. This is the cocklebur weevil and looks very much like the boll weevil until you get them side by side. The writer lived in Bolivar county, Mississippi, in the heart of the boll weevil district for ten years with the largest cotton farmers in the United States, an English syndicate which operates nearly 60,000 acres of cotton each year and which spared no funds to fight the weevil and had all the bug experts to be had there at different times. I can state with certainty that the weevil found in the cocklebur is not the boll weevil. There the nine different weevils that look very much like the boll weevil till you get them along beside the real thing. They are in a class to themselves."

I write this so that those interested can feel relieved and might save a lot of unnecessary expense. If you care to go further into this matter you can write to Prof. J. W. Fox, general manager of the Delta and Pine Land Co., of Scott, Miss., who I think can relieve of any anxiety in this line."

After examining the insects with a magnifying glass the News is ready to admit there is room for doubt about their being boll weevil.

During the war nearly 15,000,000 women were drawing pay for their services in Great Britain.

She Balked at the Altar; Now They Seek Distant Lands Apart

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—(Special)—"Waiting at the church—"

You've read in fiction a score of times, seen it staged at the big third act of melodrama, you've even whistled or sung it—

But here it is as a cold, incontrovertible fact, attested to by hundreds of the smartest of Chicago's smart set, who waited, and waited, and w-a-i-t-e-d in the fashionable Fourth Presbyterian church for a bride who never appeared and a bridegroom who was also reported absent.

You've known in fiction, drama and song this sort of a thing to happen once in the romantic life of a girl. Here learn in fact how it happened twice, in the same bridegroom—and may happen again.

No wonder the whole community is at its wits end trying to guess the answer to the twice cancelled marriage of Allister McCormick and Mary Landon Baker, of millionaire families. No wonder society is asking:

"Why was the ceremony postponed? What's behind all this mysterious silence? What will become of the wedding presents? Who is to blame?"

To cap the climax of the startling series of mishaps connected with this romance, Miss Baker and Mr. McCormick are both declared to be ill by their parents. They refused to permit even their most intimate friends to visit them.

To the hundreds of wedding guests, representing the very elite of society, who thronged the Fourth Presbyterian church on the wedding day only to find the bride conspicuously absent, the explanations offered are altogether inadequate.

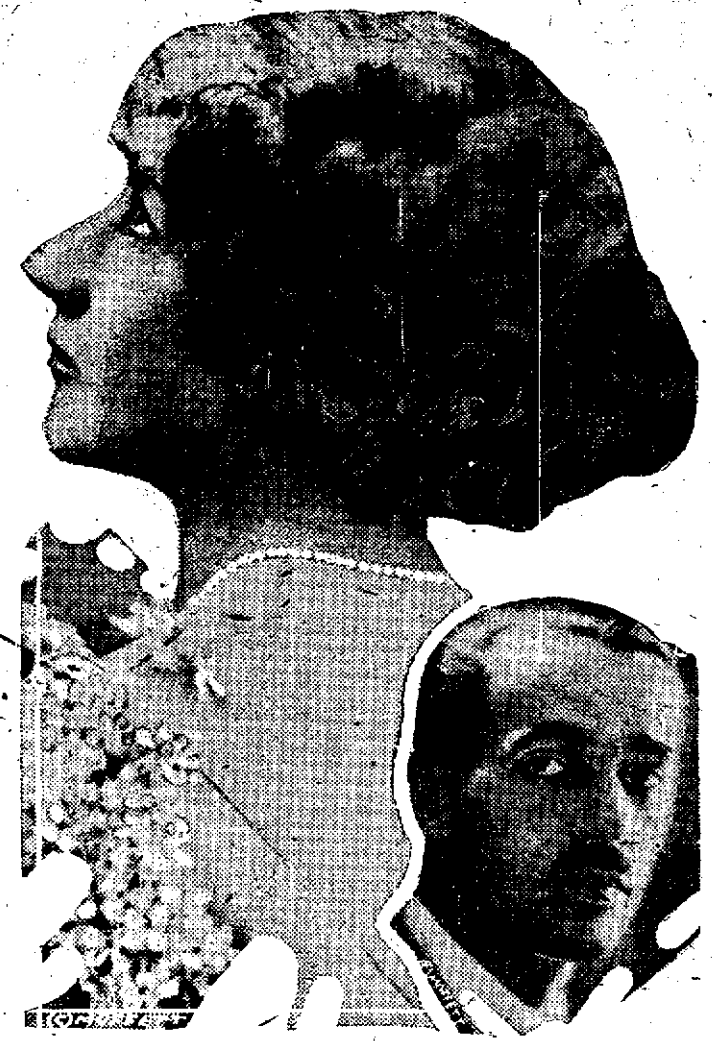

With the preliminary music thrice played, and the opening bars of the wedding march about to sound, Alfred L. Baker, the bride's father, announced that because of his daughter's illness, the ceremony would have to be postponed. The bridegroom was waiting at the church which was banked with flowers, the clergyman was ready—but the ceremony had to wait.

When Mr. Baker was urged to state when the ceremony would be performed, and a bedside wedding was suggested, he said:

"My daughter's present state of illness was brought about through incision. No one can settle the question but herself. It is a most regrettable circumstance but there was nothing that could be done. It is too early to set another date. It all depends on my daughter."

And L. Hamilton McCormick, father of the bridegroom, said:

"My son is indisposed and will see no one."

Miss Mary Landon Baker in her wedding gown and Allister McCormick who was to have been her husband.

What About the Gifts? The Baker home contains hundreds of gifts to the bride, including the costliest of jewels. Many of the presents are engraved, others were especially made. What will be done with them is among the unsolved phases of the problem.

For it is now conceded that illness was not the basic reason for the bride's sudden refusal to appear at the altar.

The strange fact that the wedding has been set originally for last May and was then postponed at Miss Baker's request has not been overlooked by the gossips.

What explanation she will offer, what her attitude will be toward Mr. McCormick in the future—but it is futile to conjecture! Whatever is behind it all has been kept secret with extraordinary success, all directly concerned.

The feeling obtains that she permitted herself to be forced or persuaded to the verge of marriage in circumstances that were now wholly unliking. At the final moment last spring, and again the other day, she refused to take the step.

Members of the family now estimate that Miss Baker will go west shortly. McCormick will go to Europe and the wedding may occur in London later, it is rumored.

Farmers' Column By Byron Norrell

Gardening time is not far distant and people in both town and country are doubtless planning their gardens and deciding what to plant. My better half has already been busy going over the supply of seed left over from last year and studying seed catalogs to find out what else we need. Of course we shall buy all of the seed possible from local dealers, but these catalogs often contain some good ideas. In this connection I am of the opinion that the small yellow pear tomatoes ought to be a good thing to plant. The preserves made from this tomato are very delicious, in fact my favorite. I expect to plant some of these for this very purpose. Of course the main thing about a garden is to raise something the family likes as well as a surplus for market.

Cull Your Flocks With Care.

In looking over the weekly reports of some of the county agents I find some agents were doing quite a bit of culling as late as the last of October. In one case an agent reported 1700 birds handled and 175 hens culled out as non-productive. That means practically 70 percent of the flocks were to be sold. These figures were taken from about a half dozen flocks and about the same percent of each flock was culled.

The average flock in Oklahoma probably will run 60 percent profitable hens with the present prices of feeds. A hen that will lay 100 eggs yearly under average farm conditions should pay for her keep and give a financial gain between now and early next summer. Remember that the hen just about passed through her non-productive period by November and that your loss has already been checked against your flock. Another thing, old hens at this time are not bringing as much on the market as they will along in the spring at a time they will begin to go out of production.

I would not encourage culling at this time of the year for eliminating the non-producer, but on the other hand would suggest that what culling is done the following month or two be done with the idea of selecting the BEST producers. Pick out the outstanding birds and use them in the breeding pens next spring.

The hen that shows pale shank, good head, back, breast and depth of body along with capacity and old plumage is a hen worth breeding from. Also those showing those different points and just going into moult will serve you well in the breeding pens.

Don't forget that the bulk of your hens moult during the months of June to November inclusive and that those moulting the last three months are better than those moulting the first three months.

Not every hen that is not laying at this time of the year can be considered a poor layer.

Watch your culling from now on or you will find yourself low on hens for the winter. Pullets are hard to buy and come high.—E. O. E.

Remedy for Limberneck.

Here is a good remedy for limberneck in chickens:

Stalk light bread—broken up in pieces; pour a little turpentine on the bread, not too much; a dash of cayenne or red pepper; enough hot fat to soften the bread. Put some of this in the fowl's mouth and make sure that it is swallowed. Two doses of this kind will be enough. I have never failed to cure a case of limberneck with this remedy.

Home-Grown Cow Feeds.

To get the most out of the milk cows in 1922, most, if not all, of the feed must be raised on the farm. To make a balanced ration for the cows, and get a good flow of milk without buying feed, some legume hay must be raised.

Legume hay is necessary because it contains protein. Protein is what makes shorts and cottonseed meal valuable as cow feed. We can grow protein feeds, however, without buying them.

Alfalfa is a fine protein feed. Pound for pound good alfalfa hay is as good as bran; it will produce as much milk. Good cowpea hay is as good as alfalfa hay. Not every farmer can grow cowpeas. Also, every farmer can grow peanuts—a fine cow feed.

For a man with four milk cows, three acres of cowpeas and three acres of peanuts will almost insure an abundance of protein feed. Add to these plenty of corn or sudan hay and plenty of pasture in season and the cow feed problem will be solved. Fed on the above feeds and given personal care, the farm cows of Oklahoma will give a good flow of milk. The income from the cows will all stay on the farm. None of it need be spent for feed.

$250,000 FIRE DESTROYS PITTSBURG HOUSE TODAY

PITTSBURG, Penn., Jan. 10.—Fire, which swept the Eichbaum building in the Fifth Avenue residence district today, caused damage estimated at $250,000.

Fire Wipes Out. LOUISVILLE, Jan. 10.—Fire early today partly destroyed one of Louisville's historical buildings, the old Courier-Journal office building. Fourth and Liberty streets, for almost a half century the home of the Courier-Journal. Newspaper estimates made after a hurried canvass by the owners of the building and occupants of the place said the loss would total approximately $300,000. Early estimates were double that amount.

Ten years ago the newspaper was moved to another location and the old one converted into an office building.
